Executive summary

What your answers show

Leaking

Test Profile, your customer journey scores 43 out of 100. There are significant gaps in your journey. You're winning attention and then losing people who were ready to book - which means growth is costing far more than it should.

Your strongest stage is Lead Response at 53/100. The stage costing you most right now is Lead Response at 53/100 - which is where this report starts.

At £500-£1,000 per client, one extra client a month adds around £8,400 in lifetime value over a year - the bar every recommendation in this report has to clear.

What the gaps are costing you	£26,000 a year
Enquiries that never became clients	£13,000
Clients who don't come back	£7,200
Appointments that don't turn up	£5,800

Your top three priorities

Priority 1

Lead Response

53/100 · Needs work

Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.

Priority 2

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

39/100 · Critical gap

Follow-up depends on how busy you are, which means the busiest weeks - your best lead weeks - get the least follow-up.

Priority 3

Retention & Re-engagement

51/100 · Needs work

Only 24% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.

All eight stages

Your journey at a glance

How each stage is being run

AUTOMATED happens without anyone thinking about it

SYSTEMISED there is a process, but it still needs you

MANUAL depends on somebody remembering

Manual is under 50, Systemised is 50 to 74, Automated is 75 and over.

Lead Sources & Discovery

MANUAL — 29/100

Almost all your enquiries arrive through one or two routes, which makes your diary vulnerable to an algorithm change or a quiet month.

Lead Response

SYSTEMISED — 53/100

Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

MANUAL — 39/100

Follow-up depends on how busy you are, which means the busiest weeks - your best lead weeks - get the least follow-up.

Booking Process

MANUAL — 40/100

Booking runs through conversation, so every appointment costs you messages and every delay costs you clients.

Confirmation & Pre-Appointment

MANUAL — 44/100

Confirmations depend on you remembering, so some clients get one late and some don't get one at all.

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

MANUAL — 49/100

Reminders depend on you having time, so the busiest weeks - when a no-show hurts most - get the fewest reminders.

Reviews & Reputation

MANUAL — 31/100

Asking in person is easily forgotten once the client leaves, so most intentions never become reviews.

Retention & Re-engagement

SYSTEMISED — 51/100

Only 24% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.

Your 90-day focus

YOUR FOCUS KPI

Enquiry response time

How long a new enquiry waits before it gets a useful reply

TODAY

Same day

IN 90 DAYS

Under five minutes, every time, including when you're with a client

Why this number matters most for you

This is the first few minutes after someone contacts you, and it is the fastest-moving number in the business. A reply inside five minutes converts several times better than the same reply an hour later, because the person is still sitting there with your competitors' pages open. It costs nothing but a system.

Replying in minutes instead of hours wins back work you had already done the hard part for. It costs nothing once the system is in place, it runs while you are with a client, and people read a fast reply as a business that has its act together.

How this number was chosen

Each of the eight stages owns one number. Lead Response scored 53 out of 100, and because it carries more weight in your overall score than most, that gap is costing you more than any other single stage. So the number for this quarter is Enquiry response time. The other priorities below were not picked for being weak on their own. They were picked because the work they need also moves Enquiry response time, so Lead Nurture & Follow-Up and Booking Process pull in the same direction rather than scattering your effort across eight fronts.

How to measure it

Track the following data: how many minutes pass between an enquiry arriving and a reply going out that actually answers the person.

Where to get it

Your phone already keeps this for you. Open your last ten enquiries wherever they came in: Instagram messages, Facebook messages, email, your website form, missed calls. Each one shows the time it arrived and the time you answered. Write down the gap for all ten. Measure to the reply that answers their question and offers them a way to book. An automatic acknowledgement is not that reply, so do not stop the clock there.

How often to check

Once a week, on your most recent ten enquiries. Look at the slowest of the ten rather than the average, because the slowest one is the client who went elsewhere.

Priority 1

Lead Response

SYSTEMISED 53/100

What's working

- An auto-reply holds attention the moment someone gets in touch.
- You're tracking conversions, even if it's by hand.

The gaps

- Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.
- Checking between clients means replies land in unpredictable bursts, and anything arriving while you're on a long job goes cold.
- Your replies vary depending on the day, so some enquiries get a much weaker answer than others.

What to do

QUICK WIN Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.

Turns a same-day business into a five-minute business without adding hours to your week.

QUICK WIN Upgrade the auto-reply to answer the three questions you get most (price, availability, what's involved) and include a direct booking link.

Turns a holding message into a booking, without you touching it.

QUICK WIN Add an instant auto-response so the gap between clients isn't the thing your enquiries depend on.

Consistent response times without checking your phone mid-job.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

An AI assistant that answers on every channel you use, at any hour, in your words. It handles price and availability, asks the one or two things you need to know, and books straight into your diary. Anything it cannot answer arrives with you already summarised, so you reply once rather than from the beginning.

Tools

Start here

- Instant replies turned on in Instagram and Facebook settings, with your prices and a booking link in them.
- An automatic reply on your website form, so nobody is left wondering whether it sent.

The joined-up version

Every channel feeds one inbox, the first reply goes out on its own with a booking link in it, and anything that needs you is waiting in one place rather than on four apps.

Priority 2

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

MANUAL 39/100

What's working

- Nothing scored strongly here yet.

The gaps

- Follow-up depends on how busy you are, which means the busiest weeks - your best lead weeks - get the least follow-up.
- One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.
- Your nurture is partly built, so some enquiries get looked after and others don't.

What to do

PROJECT Systemise the first three touches so they happen regardless of your week, and step in personally only when someone replies.

Makes your conversion rate consistent instead of seasonal.

QUICK WIN Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.

Captures the slower decision-makers without any extra enquiry cost.

PROJECT Finish the sequence: five emails over two weeks covering what to expect, the result they're after, reviews, common worries and an invitation to book.

Converts the undecided without another conversation from you.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Follow-up that runs itself and knows when to stop. Each enquiry who has not booked gets a sequence shaped around what they asked about, by email, text or the channel they came in on. It stops the moment they book, and the replies that need a person come to you with the thread already read.

Tools

Start here

- Three saved messages: the day after, day three, and day seven. Send them by hand until the pattern is proven.
- A note in the diary each Friday to check who enquired this week and never heard back.

The joined-up version

An enquiry that does not book joins a sequence by itself, the sequence stops the moment they do book, and you only step in when somebody replies.

Priority 3

Retention & Re-engagement

SYSTEMISED 51/100

What's working

- You follow up after appointments, which keeps the relationship warm.
- You do reach out to clients who've drifted.

The gaps

- Only 24% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.
- Referrals happen by accident rather than because you've made them easy and rewarding.
- You know retention isn't where it should be - which means you're paying to replace clients you could have kept.

What to do

QUICK WIN — Ask for the next booking before they leave, as well as sending the follow-up.
In-room rebooking typically converts several times better than any message sent later.

PROJECT — Prompt every client to rebook before they leave, and set up a re-engagement message for anyone who hasn't been back in 10 weeks.
Lifting repeat business from 24% to 44% would meaningfully raise your income without a single new enquiry.

PROJECT — Automate it on a 10-week trigger so it happens even in the weeks you're flat out.
Turns an occasional effort into a reliable source of rebookings.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Rebooking prompts timed to each treatment's own cycle rather than one blanket reminder, so clients hear from you when they are actually due. Anyone drifting past their window is picked up automatically, and the ones who do come back are asked to bring someone with them.

Tools

Start here

- Ask for the next booking before the client leaves. It costs nothing and it moves fastest.
- A list of everyone who has not been back in three months, worked through by hand once.

The joined-up version

The system knows when each client is due back, asks them before you would have remembered to, and only tells you about the ones who do not answer.

The plan

Week by week

Everything from the roadmap, in the order to do it. All of it moves Enquiry response time.

1 Phase one

Weeks 1-2

QUICK WIN — Response

Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.

QUICK WIN — Response

Upgrade the auto-reply to answer the three questions you get most (price, availability, what's involved) and include a direct booking link.

QUICK WIN — Response

Add an instant auto-response so the gap between clients isn't the thing your enquiries depend on.

2 Phase two

Weeks 3-6

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Choose one standing first-visit offer - a credit against the first invoice, an add-on, or a small saving on the first booking - and use it in every follow-up.

QUICK WIN — Retention

Ask for the next booking before they leave, as well as sending the follow-up.

3 Phase three

Weeks 7-12

PROJECT — Nurture

Systemise the first three touches so they happen regardless of your week, and step in personally only when someone replies.

PROJECT — Nurture

Finish the sequence: five emails over two weeks covering what to expect, the result they're after, reviews, common worries and an invitation to book.

THREE THINGS YOU CAN DO THIS WEEK

- Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.
- Upgrade the auto-reply to answer the three questions you get most (price, availability, what's involved) and include a direct booking link.
- Add an instant auto-response so the gap between clients isn't the thing your enquiries depend on.

Next steps

Three ways to close these gaps

Everything in this report is one 90-day cycle: Enquiry response time as the focus, with the priorities that move it. That is exactly how the LEAP sprint runs. You can run it yourself - the real question is how much of it you want to carry alone.

Option 1

Run it yourself

Included

The whole cycle is written out for you to work through in order. Be warned that it is a fair amount of work: three months of building, testing and following up around an already full diary, and the parts you're least sure about are usually the ones that slip.

Option 2

Your top priority, built for you

From £950

We take the gap that's costing you most and build the fix properly, so it runs without you remembering to do it. Any quick wins that sit alongside it are included in the build.

Option 3

LEAP - 90-Day Sprint

From £2,500 a month

The same cycle, built with you across ninety days: your focus KPI, the aligned priorities, fortnightly sessions, and the work shared rather than left to your evenings. Your number gets looked at every two weeks, which is usually what separates a plan that happens from one that doesn't.

About

Tulivo Digital

Jemina Semakula helps service business owners fix the journey between "I'm interested" and "I've booked again". Most of them don't have a marketing problem - they have a journey problem: enquiries that go unanswered, follow-ups that never happen, and clients who simply drift away.

The work is practical: response systems, booking that doesn't lose people, reminders that protect your diary, review engines and retention sequences - built into the business, not handed over as a document.

What we do

- Customer journey diagnostics and implementation
- AI assistants and automated client communications
- Automation and CRM builds for clinics, studios and salons
- Websites and booking journeys designed to convert
- Reputation, retention and referral systems
