Executive summary

What your answers show

Leaking

Sarah Mensah, your customer journey scores 51 out of 100. There are significant gaps in your journey. You're winning attention and then losing people who were ready to book - which means growth is costing far more than it should.

Your strongest stage is Lead Sources & Discovery at 70/100. The stage costing you most right now is Lead Response at 28/100 - which is where this report starts.

At £1,000-£2,500 per client, one extra client a month adds around £19,200 in lifetime value over a year - the bar every recommendation in this report has to clear.

What the gaps are costing you	£64,800 a year
Enquiries that never became clients	£33,700
Clients who don't come back	£16,100
Appointments that don't turn up	£15,000

Your top three priorities

Priority 1

Lead Response

28/100 · Critical gap

Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.

Priority 2

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

46/100 · Critical gap

One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.

Priority 3

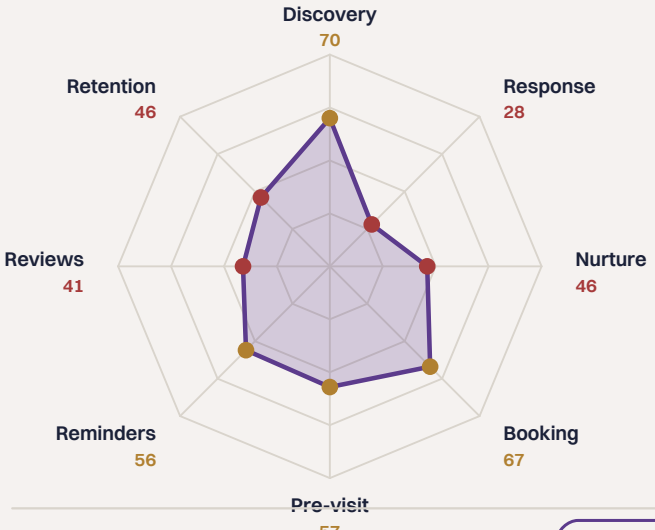

Retention & Re-engagement

46/100 · Critical gap

Only 45% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.

All eight stages

Your journey at a glance

How each stage is being run

AUTOMATED — happens without anyone thinking about it

SYSTEMISED — there is a process, but it still needs you

MANUAL — depends on somebody remembering

Manual is under 50, Systemised is 50 to 74, Automated is 75 and over.

Lead Sources & Discovery

SYSTEMISED — 70/100

Your Google profile exists but isn't working hard - it's listed rather than competing.

Lead Response

MANUAL — 28/100

Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

MANUAL — 46/100

One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.

Booking Process

SYSTEMISED — 67/100

Three or four steps is workable, but each one loses a few people who were ready.

Confirmation & Pre-Appointment

SYSTEMISED — 57/100

Paperwork on arrival eats into the time they are paying for, and starts the visit with admin.

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

SYSTEMISED — 56/100

A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.

Reviews & Reputation

MANUAL — 41/100

Few clients act on your review request, which usually means the ask arrives too late or takes too many steps.

Retention & Re-engagement

MANUAL — 46/100

Only 45% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.

Your 90-day focus

YOUR FOCUS KPI

Enquiry response time

How long a new enquiry waits before it gets a useful reply

TODAY

Same day

IN 90 DAYS

Under five minutes, every time, including when you're with a client

Why this number matters most for you

This is the first few minutes after someone contacts you, and it is the fastest-moving number in the business. A reply inside five minutes converts several times better than the same reply an hour later, because the person is still sitting there with your competitors' pages open. It costs nothing but a system.

Replying in minutes instead of hours wins back work you had already done the hard part for. It costs nothing once the system is in place, it runs while you are with a client, and people read a fast reply as a business that has its act together.

How this number was chosen

Each of the eight stages owns one number. Lead Response scored 28 out of 100, and because it carries more weight in your overall score than most, that gap is costing you more than any other single stage. So the number for this quarter is Enquiry response time. The other priorities below were not picked for being weak on their own. They were picked because the work they need also moves Enquiry response time, so Lead Nurture & Follow-Up and Booking Process pull in the same direction rather than scattering your effort across eight fronts.

How to measure it

Track the following data: how many minutes pass between an enquiry arriving and a reply going out that actually answers the person.

Where to get it

Your phone already keeps this for you. Open your last ten enquiries wherever they came in: Instagram messages, Facebook messages, email, your website form, missed calls. Each one shows the time it arrived and the time you answered. Write down the gap for all ten. Measure to the reply that answers their question and offers them a way to book. An automatic acknowledgement is not that reply, so do not stop the clock there.

How often to check

Once a week, on your most recent ten enquiries. Look at the slowest of the ten rather than the average, because the slowest one is the client who went elsewhere.

Priority 1

Lead Response

MANUAL 28/100

What's working

- Nothing scored strongly here yet.

The gaps

- Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.
- Nothing happens automatically when someone enquires, so every enquiry waits for you to be free.
- Checking between clients means replies land in unpredictable bursts, and anything arriving while you're on a long job goes cold.

What to do

QUICK WIN Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.

Turns a same-day business into a five-minute business without adding hours to your week.

QUICK WIN Switch on instant replies on Instagram and Facebook, and an automatic confirmation email on your website form. Include your prices and a booking link.

Every enquiry gets acknowledged in seconds, which stops people messaging three other businesses while they wait.

QUICK WIN Add an instant auto-response so the gap between clients isn't the thing your enquiries depend on.

Consistent response times without checking your phone mid-job.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

An AI assistant that answers on every channel you use, at any hour, in your words. It handles price and availability, asks the one or two things you need to know, and books straight into your diary. Anything it cannot answer arrives with you already summarised, so you reply once rather than from the beginning.

Tools

Start here

- Instant replies turned on in Instagram and Facebook settings, with your prices and a booking link in them.
- An automatic reply on your website form, so nobody is left wondering whether it sent.

The joined-up version

Every channel feeds one inbox, the first reply goes out on its own with a booking link in it, and anything that needs you is waiting in one place rather than on four apps.

Priority 2

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

MANUAL 46/100

What's working

- You do chase enquiries, which already puts you ahead of most.

The gaps

- One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.
- There's nothing keeping you in mind between the enquiry and the decision, so you're competing against whoever messaged them last.
- Your offer changes depending on the conversation, so there's no consistent reason to book today rather than someday.

What to do

PROJECT Automate the first three follow-ups so they go out whether or not you have capacity that week, and keep your manual touch for the ones who reply.
Removes the 'I meant to message them' loss without adding to your workload.

QUICK WIN Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.
Captures the slower decision-makers without any extra enquiry cost.

PROJECT Write a five-email nurture sequence once, automate it, and let it run for every new enquiry.
Turns a single reply into two weeks of presence - for one afternoon of work.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Follow-up that runs itself and knows when to stop. Each enquiry who has not booked gets a sequence shaped around what they asked about, by email, text or the channel they came in on. It stops the moment they book, and the replies that need a person come to you with the thread already read.

Tools

Start here

- Three saved messages: the day after, day three, and day seven. Send them by hand until the pattern is proven.
- A note in the diary each Friday to check who enquired this week and never heard back.

The joined-up version

An enquiry that does not book joins a sequence by itself, the sequence stops the moment they do book, and you only step in when somebody replies.

Priority 3

Retention & Re-engagement

MANUAL 46/100

What's working

- You follow up after appointments, which keeps the relationship warm.

The gaps

- Only 45% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.
- Clients who drift away are never contacted, so a growing list of people who liked your work is going unused.
- Referrals happen by accident rather than because you've made them easy and rewarding.

What to do

QUICK WIN Ask for the next booking before they leave, as well as sending the follow-up.
In-room rebooking typically converts several times better than any message sent later.

PROJECT Prompt every client to rebook before they leave, and set up a re-engagement message for anyone who hasn't been back in 10 weeks.
Lifting repeat business from 45% to 65% would meaningfully raise your income without a single new enquiry.

QUICK WIN Export clients who haven't visited in 10+ weeks and send a short, warm message with a rebooking link. Then automate it.
This is usually the quickest available win - the clients already know and trust you.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Rebooking prompts timed to each treatment's own cycle rather than one blanket reminder, so clients hear from you when they are actually due. Anyone drifting past their window is picked up automatically, and the ones who do come back are asked to bring someone with them.

Tools

Start here

- Ask for the next booking before the client leaves. It costs nothing and it moves fastest.
- A list of everyone who has not been back in three months, worked through by hand once.

The joined-up version

The system knows when each client is due back, asks them before you would have remembered to, and only tells you about the ones who do not answer.

The plan

Week by week

Everything from the roadmap, in the order to do it. All of it moves Enquiry response time.

1 Phase one

Weeks 1-2

QUICK WIN — Response

Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.

QUICK WIN — Response

Switch on instant replies on Instagram and Facebook, and an automatic confirmation email on your website form. Include your prices and a booking link.

QUICK WIN — Response

Add an instant auto-response so the gap between clients isn't the thing your enquiries depend on.

2 Phase two

Weeks 3-6

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Choose one standing first-visit offer - a credit against the first invoice, an add-on, or a small saving on the first booking - and use it in every follow-up.

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Add a short enquiry form - name, contact and what they need - to your main service pages, and reply to it with your standard first response.

3 Phase three

Weeks 7-12

PROJECT — Nurture

Automate the first three follow-ups so they go out whether or not you have capacity that week, and keep your manual touch for the ones who reply.

PROJECT — Nurture

Write a five-email nurture sequence once, automate it, and let it run for every new enquiry

THREE THINGS YOU CAN DO THIS WEEK

- Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.
- Switch on instant replies on Instagram and Facebook, and an automatic confirmation email on your website form. Include your prices and a booking link.
- Add an instant auto-response so the gap between clients isn't the thing your enquiries depend on.

What to record

Three lists is enough. A spreadsheet with three tabs will carry you through the first ninety days; a booking system or a CRM can fill them in for you later. The fields in purple are the ones that feed your focus number.

Enquiries

- Date received
- Where they came from

- Did they book

Appointments

- Date and treatment
- New or returning
- Attended, cancelled or missed
- Rebooked before leaving

Next steps

Three ways to close these gaps

Everything in this report is one 90-day cycle: Enquiry response time as the focus, with the priorities that move it. That is exactly how the LEAP sprint runs. You can run it yourself - the real question is how much of it you want to carry alone.

Option 1

Run it yourself

Included

The whole cycle is written out for you to work through in order. Be warned that it is a fair amount of work: three months of building, testing and following up around an already full diary, and the parts you're least sure about are usually the ones that slip.

Option 2

Your top priority, built for you

From £950

We take the gap that's costing you most and build the fix properly, so it runs without you remembering to do it. Any quick wins that sit alongside it are included in the build.

Option 3

LEAP - 90-Day Sprint

From £2,500 a month

The same cycle, built with you across ninety days: your focus KPI, the aligned priorities, fortnightly sessions, and the work shared rather than left to your evenings. Your number gets looked at every two weeks, which is usually what separates a plan that happens from one that doesn't.

Book your free 30-minute walkthrough

We'll go through your roadmap, agree the one thing to fix first, and look at which parts are worth building properly.

About

Tulivo Digital

Jemina Semakula helps service business owners fix the journey between "I'm interested" and "I've booked again". Most of them don't have a marketing problem - they have a journey problem: enquiries that go unanswered, follow-ups that never happen, and clients who simply drift away.

The work is practical: response systems, booking that doesn't lose people, reminders that protect your diary, review engines and retention sequences - built into the business, not handed over as a document.

What we do

- Customer journey diagnostics and implementation
- AI assistants and automated client communications
- Automation and CRM builds for clinics, studios and salons
- Websites and booking journeys designed to convert
- Reputation, retention and referral systems
