Executive summary

What your answers show

Leaking

Sarah Mensah, your customer journey scores 49 out of 100. There are significant gaps in your journey. You're winning attention and then losing people who were ready to book - which means growth is costing far more than it should.

Your strongest stage is Lead Sources & Discovery at 70/100. The stage costing you most right now is Lead Nurture & Follow-Up at 46/100 - which is where this report starts.

At £1,000-£2,500 per client, one extra client a month adds around £19,200 in lifetime value over a year - the bar every recommendation in this report has to clear.

What the gaps are costing you	£32,200 a year
Enquiries that never became clients	£13,900
Appointments that don't turn up	£6,200
Enquiries that wait too long for a reply	£4,700
Clients who don't come back	£4,400
1 smaller gap across the other stages	£3,000

Based on 26 appointments a week at £165 over 50 working weeks, an estimated £214,500 a year. The total above is held to 15% of that.

Your top three priorities

Priority 1

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

46/100 · Critical gap

One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.

Priority 2

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

56/100 · Needs work

A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.

Priority 3

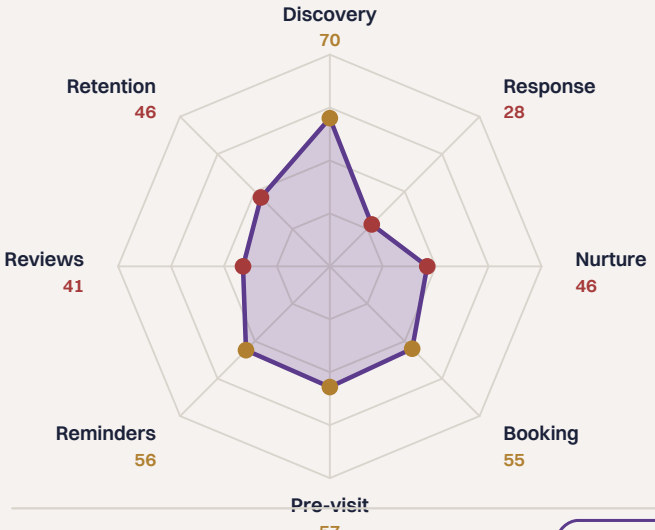

Lead Response

28/100 · Critical gap

Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.

All eight stages

Your journey at a glance

How each stage is being run

AUTOMATED happens without anyone thinking about it

SYSTEMISED there is a process, but it still needs you

MANUAL depends on somebody remembering

Manual is under 50, Systemised is 50 to 74, Automated is 75 and over.

Lead Sources & Discovery

SYSTEMISED 70/100

Your Google profile exists but isn't working hard - it's listed rather than competing.

Lead Response

MANUAL 28/100

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

MANUAL 46/100

One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.

Booking Process

SYSTEMISED 55/100

Three or four steps is workable, but each one loses a few people who were ready.

Confirmation & Pre-Appointment

SYSTEMISED 57/100

Paperwork on arrival eats into the time they are paying for, and starts the visit with admin.

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

SYSTEMISED 56/100

A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.

Reviews & Reputation

MANUAL 41/100

Few clients act on your review request, which usually means the ask arrives too late or takes too many steps.

Retention & Re-engagement

MANUAL 46/100

Only 45% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.

Enquiry-to-client conversion

TODAY	IN 90 DAYS

Why this number matters most for you

This is the fortnight after that first reply, for everyone who did not book there and then. Most of them were not saying no, they were saying not yet, and then nobody asked again. You have already paid for their attention, so lifting this number costs nothing extra and shows up in the diary within weeks.

The people in this group have already told you they are interested. Following up properly turns a chunk of them into clients without another pound spent on being found, and it stops your diary swinging between good months and quiet ones.

How this number was chosen

Each of the eight stages owns one number. Lead Nurture & Follow-Up scored 46 out of 100, and because it carries more weight in your overall score than most, that gap is costing you more than any other single stage. So the number for this quarter is Enquiry-to-client conversion. The other priorities below were not picked for being weak on their own. They were picked because the work they need also moves Enquiry-to-client conversion, so Lead Response and Booking Process pull in the same direction rather than scattering your effort across eight fronts.

How to measure it

Track the following data: out of every hundred people who enquire, how many end up paying you for something.

Where to get it

Use the same enquiry list as above: one line per enquiry, with the date and where it came from. Count how many enquiries you received last month. Then go through those same people and count how many have since had an appointment. Divide the second number by the first and multiply by a hundred. Use last month rather than this month, because people who enquired this week have not had time to decide yet.

How often to check

Once a month, always looking at the month before last month. Doing it any sooner makes your conversion rate look worse than it is.

Priority 1

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

MANUAL 46/100

What's working

- You do chase enquiries, which already puts you ahead of most.

The gaps

- One or two touches stops just before the point where most undecided enquiries actually book.
- There's nothing keeping you in mind between the enquiry and the decision, so you're competing against whoever messaged them last.
- Your offer changes depending on the conversation, so there's no consistent reason to book today rather than someday.

What to do

PROJECT Automate the first three follow-ups so they go out whether or not you have capacity that week, and keep your manual touch for the ones who reply.

Removes the 'I meant to message them' loss without adding to your workload.

QUICK WIN Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.

Captures the slower decision-makers without any extra enquiry cost.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Follow-up that runs itself and knows when to stop. Each enquiry who has not booked gets a sequence shaped around what they asked about, by email, text or the channel they came in on. It stops the moment they book, and the replies that need a person come to you with the thread already read.

Tools

Start here

- Three saved messages: the day after, day three, and day seven. Send them by hand until the pattern is proven.
- A note in the diary each Friday to check who enquired this week and never heard back.

The joined-up version

An enquiry that does not book joins a sequence by itself, the sequence stops the moment they do book, and you only step in when somebody replies.

Priority 2

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

SYSTEMISED 56/100

What's working

- Automated SMS reminders reach clients reliably.
- You do follow up on missed appointments.

The gaps

- A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.
- A 14% no-show rate means roughly one in 7 booked appointments earns nothing.
- An unenforced policy is the same as no policy, but it costs you the goodwill of the clients who do turn up on time.

What to do

QUICK WIN Add an email reminder alongside the SMS so the detail - address, preparation, policy - is there too.

Catches the clients who don't read texts and reduces late arrivals.

QUICK WIN Send two reminders: 48 hours before (long enough to rebook rather than cancel) and 24 hours before.

The 48-hour reminder converts would-be no-shows into reschedules, which keeps the revenue.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Two-way reminders that ask rather than tell. A client confirms or cancels from the message, and a cancellation goes straight to a waitlist that fills the slot from the people most likely to say yes. Repeated no-shows are flagged quietly, so you can decide what to do about them rather than finding out later.

Tools

Start here

- Reminders switched on at 48 and 24 hours in the system you already pay for.
- A cancellation policy written in one short paragraph and shown at the point of booking.

The joined-up version

The reminder asks for a yes or no rather than just telling them, and a no goes straight to the people waiting for a slot.

Priority 3

Lead Response

MANUAL 28/100

What's working

- Nothing scored strongly here yet.

The gaps

- Same-day replies mean most enquiries sit unanswered for hours, by which point many have booked elsewhere.
- Nothing happens automatically when someone enquires, so every enquiry waits for you to be free.
- Checking between clients means replies land in unpredictable bursts, and anything arriving while you're on a long job goes cold.

What to do

QUICK WIN Put a chatbot on every channel that answers price, availability and what's involved, and offers a booking link, so the enquiry is dealt with in seconds instead of being queued for later.

Turns a same-day business into a five-minute business without adding hours to your week.

QUICK WIN Switch on instant replies on Instagram and Facebook, and an automatic confirmation email on your website form. Include your prices and a booking link.

Every enquiry gets acknowledged in seconds, which stops people messaging three other businesses while they wait.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

An AI assistant that answers on every channel you use, at any hour, in your words. It handles price and availability, asks the one or two things you need to know, and books straight into your diary. Anything it cannot answer arrives with you already summarised, so you reply once rather than from the beginning.

Tools

Start here

- Instant replies turned on in Instagram and Facebook settings, with your prices and a booking link in them.
- An automatic reply on your website form, so nobody is left wondering whether it sent.

The joined-up version

Every channel feeds one inbox, the first reply goes out on its own with a booking link in it, and anything that needs you is waiting in one place rather than on four apps.

ManyChat
Automated conversations on Instagram, Facebook and WhatsApp

WhatsApp Business

The plan

Week by week

Everything from the roadmap, in the order to do it. All of it moves Enquiry-to-client conversion.

1 Phase one

Weeks 1-2

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.

QUICK WIN — Nurture

Choose one standing first-visit offer - a credit against the first invoice, an add-on, or a small saving on the first booking - and use it in every follow-up.

2 Phase two

Weeks 3-6

PROJECT — Nurture

Automate the first three follow-ups so they go out whether or not you have capacity that week, and keep your manual touch for the ones who reply.

PROJECT — Nurture

Write a five-email nurture sequence once, automate it, and let it run for every new enquiry.

3 Phase three

Weeks 7-12

QUICK WIN — Reminders

Add an email reminder alongside the SMS so the detail - address, preparation, policy - is there too.

THREE THINGS YOU CAN DO THIS WEEK

- Extend your sequence to five touches across two weeks, varying the angle each time - helpful, reassuring, then time-bound.
- Choose one standing first-visit offer - a credit against the first invoice, an add-on, or a small saving on the first booking - and use it in every follow-up.
- Add a short enquiry form - name, contact and what they need - to your main service pages, and reply to it with your standard first response.

Next steps

Three ways to close these gaps

Everything in this report is one 90-day cycle: Enquiry-to-client conversion as the focus, with the priorities that move it. That is exactly how the LEAP sprint runs. You can run it yourself - the real question is how much of it you want to carry alone.

Option 1

Run it yourself

Included

The whole cycle is written out for you to work through in order. Be warned that it is a fair amount of work: three months of building, testing and following up around an already full diary, and the parts you're least sure about are usually the ones that slip.

Option 2

Your top priority, built for you

From £950

We take the gap that's costing you most and build the fix properly, so it runs without you remembering to do it. Any quick wins that sit alongside it are included in the build.

Option 3

LEAP - 90-Day Sprint

From £2,500 a month

The same cycle, built with you across ninety days: your focus KPI, the aligned priorities, fortnightly sessions, and the work shared rather than left to your evenings. Your number gets looked at every two weeks, which is usually what separates a plan that happens from one that doesn't.
