Executive summary

What your answers show

Leaking

Test Profile, your customer journey scores 57 out of 100. There are significant gaps in your journey. You're winning attention and then losing people who were ready to book - which means growth is costing far more than it should.

Your strongest stage is Lead Response at 71/100. The stage costing you most right now is Booking Process at 40/100 - which is where this report starts.

Every finding is drawn from what you told us. Nothing here is generic: the gaps are the ones your answers revealed, and the recommendations are ordered by what a fix is worth to you.

At £1,000-£2,500 per client, one extra client a month adds around £19,200 in lifetime value over a year - the bar every recommendation in this report has to clear.

What the gaps are costing you

How many appointments you do in a normal week, and what one is worth on average.

Your top three priorities

Priority 1

Booking Process

40/100 · Critical gap

A mix of routes means some clients get a smooth booking and others get a conversation - and the ones who need it easiest usually get the slowest route.

Priority 2

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

54/100 · Needs work

A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.

Priority 3

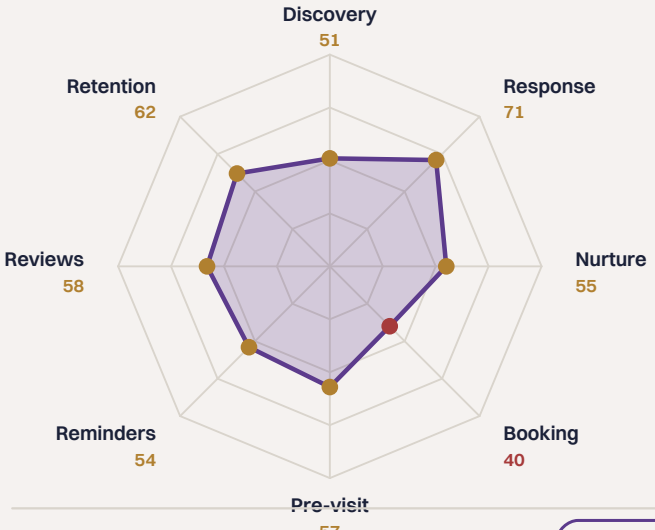

Lead Sources & Discovery

51/100 · Needs work

Almost all your enquiries arrive through one or two routes, which makes your diary vulnerable to an algorithm change or a quiet month.

All eight stages

Your journey at a glance

How each stage is being run

AUTOMATED happens without anyone thinking about it

SYSTEMISED there is a process, but it still needs you

MANUAL depends on somebody remembering

Manual is under 50, Systemised is 50 to 74, Automated is 75 and over.

Lead Sources & Discovery

SYSTEMISED 51/100

Almost all your enquiries arrive through one or two routes, which makes your diary vulnerable to an algorithm change or a quiet month.

Lead Response

SYSTEMISED 71/100

An hour is good, but the first five minutes is where the booking is won - after that, enquiries start shopping around.

Lead Nurture & Follow-Up

SYSTEMISED 55/100

Your nurture is partly built, so some enquiries get looked after and others don't.

Booking Process

MANUAL 40/100

A mix of routes means some clients get a smooth booking and others get a conversation - and the ones who need it easiest usually get the slowest route.

Confirmation & Pre-Appointment

SYSTEMISED 57/100

Paperwork on arrival eats into the time they are paying for, and starts the visit with admin.

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

SYSTEMISED 54/100

A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.

Reviews & Reputation

SYSTEMISED 58/100

Most reviews go unanswered, which makes an otherwise glowing profile look neglected.

Retention & Re-engagement

SYSTEMISED 62/100

Only 36% of your clients are repeat, so most of your income depends on constantly finding new people.

Your 90-day focus

YOUR FOCUS KPI

Bookings taken without you

The share of appointments booked online, at any hour, with no messages in between

TODAY

Online booking: partially

IN 90 DAYS

80%+ of bookings taken online, with no messages first

Why this number matters most for you

Most personal appointments are booked outside working hours. Every booking that needs you is one you can lose to timing.

Booking that works at any hour means the diary fills while you sleep, and it takes the back-and-forth messaging out of your evenings. You stop being the bottleneck in your own business.

How this number was chosen

Each of the eight stages owns one number. Booking Process scored 40 out of 100, and because it carries more weight in your overall score than most, that gap is costing you more than any other single stage. So the number for this quarter is Bookings taken without you. The other priorities below were not picked for being weak on their own. They were picked because the work they need also moves Bookings taken without you, so Lead Sources & Discovery and Lead Response pull in the same direction rather than scattering your effort across eight fronts.

How to measure it

Track the following data: what share of your appointments the client booked themselves, without a single message passing between you first.

Where to get it

If you use a booking system, open its reports and look for a split between bookings the client made online and bookings you typed in yourself. Most systems show this somewhere in reports or statistics. If yours does not, keep a tally for a fortnight: make a mark every time you enter a booking by hand, and count the total bookings over the same fortnight.

How often to check

Once a month. If you are tallying by hand instead, do a fortnight of it once a quarter rather than all year.

Priority 1

Booking Process

MANUAL 40/100

What's working

- A guide price gives people enough to decide with, which keeps bookings moving.

The gaps

- A mix of routes means some clients get a smooth booking and others get a conversation - and the ones who need it easiest usually get the slowest route.
- Three or four steps is workable, but each one loses a few people who were ready.
- Quotes take a couple of days, by which point people have usually heard back from someone quicker.

What to do

QUICK WIN Make online booking the default everywhere, and treat manual booking as the exception.

Consistent, immediate booking for everyone, less admin for you.

QUICK WIN Cut any field you don't need at the point of booking. Collect the rest afterwards, on the confirmation.

Fewer abandoned bookings, especially on mobile.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Booking that behaves like a receptionist rather than a form: it offers the right slot for the treatment, takes the deposit, and handles the moving and rescheduling without you. Slots that free up are offered to the people most likely to take them, so the gaps close themselves.

Tools

Start here

- One booking link, used in every bio, every listing and every reply.
- Deposits switched on, if your system can take them.

The joined-up version

One diary, one link, open at any hour, taking the deposit at the point of booking so the slot is held properly.

Priority 2

Reminders & No-Show Prevention

SYSTEMISED 54/100

What's working

- Email reminders are going out automatically.
- Charging for missed appointments protects the value of your time.

The gaps

- A single reminder leaves a long silent gap between booking and appointment.
- You don't currently know your no-show rate, so the most expensive thing in your diary is happening unmeasured.
- Enforcing sometimes teaches clients the policy is negotiable, which quietly increases late cancellations.

What to do

QUICK WIN Add SMS reminders - texts are opened within minutes, emails often aren't opened at all.

SMS reminders typically cut no-shows further than email alone.

QUICK WIN Send two reminders: 48 hours before (long enough to rebook rather than cancel) and 24 hours before.

The 48-hour reminder converts would-be no-shows into reschedules, which keeps the revenue.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

Two-way reminders that ask rather than tell. A client confirms or cancels from the message, and a cancellation goes straight to a waitlist that fills the slot from the people most likely to say yes. Repeated no-shows are flagged quietly, so you can decide what to do about them rather than finding out later.

Tools

Start here

- Reminders switched on at 48 and 24 hours in the system you already pay for.
- A cancellation policy written in one short paragraph and shown at the point of booking.

The joined-up version

The reminder asks for a yes or no rather than just telling them, and a no goes straight to the people waiting for a slot.

Tools on the market

Fresha
Automated reminders by text and email

Phorest
Reminders with a waitlist that offers released slots

Booksy

Priority 3

Lead Sources & Discovery

SYSTEMISED 51/100

What's working

- Nothing scored strongly here yet.

The gaps

- Almost all your enquiries arrive through one or two routes, which makes your diary vulnerable to an algorithm change or a quiet month.
- Your Google profile exists but isn't working hard - it's listed rather than competing.
- With 17 Google reviews, you're below the threshold where new clients feel safe choosing you over a competitor.

What to do

QUICK WIN Add one owned discovery channel you control - a fully filled Google Business Profile with services, photos and a booking link - so search traffic reaches you without paying for it.

A properly filled-out profile is one of the few things that lifts local enquiries without spending on ads.

QUICK WIN Complete every field on your profile: services with prices, 10+ recent photos, opening hours, a booking link, and the Q&A section answering your five most common questions.

A complete profile typically doubles profile views and puts you in the local map pack for the services you want most.

THE NEXT LEVEL · BUILT WITH YOU

An assistant that keeps your listings current on its own: hours, services and prices the same everywhere, new photos posted without you remembering, and questions on your Google listing answered as they arrive. Every enquiry is tagged with where it came from, so you stop guessing which channel is earning its place.

Tools

Start here

- Google Business Profile, claimed and filled in properly. It is free and it is where most local searches end up.
- A single page per service on the site you already have, each one with a way to book on it.

The joined-up version

The booking system holds the diary, the Google listing points straight at it, and every service page uses the same booking link, so there is one route in however somebody finds you.

The plan

Week by week

Everything from the roadmap, in the order to do it. All of it moves Bookings taken without you.

1 Phase one

Weeks 1-2

QUICK WIN — Booking

Make online booking the default everywhere, and treat manual booking as the exception.

QUICK WIN — Booking

Cut any field you don't need at the point of booking. Collect the rest afterwards, on the confirmation.

QUICK WIN — Booking

Build one quote template with your standard pricing and inclusions, so a quote is an hour's work rather than an evening's.

2 Phase two

Weeks 3-6

QUICK WIN — Reminders

Add SMS reminders - texts are opened within minutes, emails often aren't opened at all.

QUICK WIN — Reminders

Send two reminders: 48 hours before (long enough to rebook rather than cancel) and 24 hours before.

QUICK WIN — Reminders

Mark every missed or late-cancelled appointment for the next month. Two minutes a week gives you the number.

3 Phase three

Weeks 7-12

QUICK WIN — Booking

Open every bookable service to online booking, even if you cap the number of slots you release.

THREE THINGS YOU CAN DO THIS WEEK

- Make online booking the default everywhere, and treat manual booking as the exception.
- Cut any field you don't need at the point of booking. Collect the rest afterwards, on the confirmation.
- Build one quote template with your standard pricing and inclusions, so a quote is an hour's work rather than an evening's.

Next steps

Three ways to close these gaps

Everything in this report is one 90-day cycle: Bookings taken without you as the focus, with the priorities that move it. That is exactly how the LEAP sprint runs. You can run it yourself - the real question is how much of it you want to carry alone.

Option 1

Run it yourself

Included

The whole cycle is written out for you to work through in order. Be warned that it is a fair amount of work: three months of building, testing and following up around an already full diary, and the parts you're least sure about are usually the ones that slip.

Option 2

Your top priority, built for you

From £950

We take the gap that's costing you most and build the fix properly, so it runs without you remembering to do it. Any quick wins that sit alongside it are included in the build.

Option 3

LEAP - 90-Day Sprint

From £2,500 a month

The same cycle, built with you across ninety days: your focus KPI, the aligned priorities, fortnightly sessions, and the work shared rather than left to your evenings. Your number gets looked at every two weeks, which is usually what separates a plan that happens from one that doesn't.

About

Tulivo Digital

Jemina Semakula helps service business owners fix the journey between "I'm interested" and "I've booked again". Most of them don't have a marketing problem - they have a journey problem: enquiries that go unanswered, follow-ups that never happen, and clients who simply drift away.

The work is practical: response systems, booking that doesn't lose people, reminders that protect your diary, review engines and retention sequences - built into the business, not handed over as a document.

What we do

- Customer journey diagnostics and implementation
- AI assistants and automated client communications
- Automation and CRM builds for clinics, studios and salons
- Websites and booking journeys designed to convert
- Reputation, retention and referral systems
